

I think that cellular phones should be allowed on the ground before take off and landing. I can't imagine what it would be like if everyone on the flight was on their phone trying to compete to be heard on their own personal cell phone. UGH